Only the nurse or staff members certified in medication administration shall be allowed to administer medications. Written authorization must be obtained from the prescribing physician for medication to be administered by Center Staff. A copy of all physicians' authorizations shall be kept in the participants' record for as long as they are in effect. All medications shall be in the original container with the prescription label affixed. Medication administration sheets, established as part of the Individualized Plan of Care (IPC), will be the permanent record of medication administration. The authorized staff administering medications must check this sheet for the correct name, time and medication. Each time a medication is administered, the day, name of the participant, name(s) of drug(s) or prescription number, time administered, name of person administering, and any adverse/unusual reaction that occurs must be documented and signed by the person administering the medication. This record shall be retained at the Center for two years.

3. Call the family for clarification if necessary.

Sample medications shall remain in the original packaging, labeled by a physician or other prescriber or pharmacist with the participants name, the name of the medication, the strength, dosage and route and frequency of administration, until administered.

All medication must be kept in a locked container in a designated room. Medications shall be kept in a darkened area, free from dampness and high temperatures and refrigerated if required. The area in which the medication is administered shall have sufficient light so that the labels can be read and the correct dosage can be clearly determined.

The Center shall maintain a list of all medications, including those taken at home and at the Center, for each participant. The Center shall attempt to verify and update the list of Center-administered medications with the prescribing health care professional at least twice a year. Unsuccessful attempts shall be documented.

If the Center closes for the full day, Center participants will be credited for that day.

If the Center is open and participants do not attend, there will be no credit or refund.

To Obtain closing or delayed opening information:

- Check your phone for a group text message
- Call the Center number at 540-722-2273 and listen to the voicemail

Social Media

Looking towards the future, we are attempting different ways to build awareness about Alzheimer’s related dementia not only in our community, but globally. Using resources such as computer – based technology would allow us to reach more individuals and make more of an impact. Would you be willing to have your loved one participate in social media sites? The sites we are currently a part of are Facebook, Twitter, Pinterest, Instagram, and YouTube. Providing pictures and footage of various activities would give the viewer insight into the endless possibilities of “potentials” verses “limitations”.

I also DO / DO NOT give permission to be a part of social media for Adult Care Center events, either promotional or general interest.

I agree to keep a set of spare clothing at the Center for emergencies. When I terminate my enrollment at the Center, I want my clothing to be disposed of as follows:

Advance Directives and Do Not Resuscitate Orders

What is an advance directive?

An advance directive tells your doctor what kind of care you would like to have if you become unable to make medical decisions (if you are in a coma, for example). If you are admitted to the hospital, the hospital staff will probably talk to you about advance directives.

A good advance directive describes the kind of treatment you would want depending on how sick you are. For example, the directives would describe what kind of care you want if you have an illness that you are unlikely to recover from, or if you are permanently unconscious. Advance directives usually tell your doctor that you don't want certain kinds of treatment. However, they can also say that you want a certain treatment no matter how ill you are.

Advance directives can take many forms. Laws about advance directives are different in each state. You should be aware of the laws in your state.

What is a living will?

A living will is one type of advance directive. It is a written, legal document that describes the kind of medical treatments or life-sustaining treatments you would want if you were seriously or terminally ill. A living will doesn't let you select someone to make decisions for you.

What is a durable power of attorney for health care?

A durable power of attorney (DPA) for health care is another kind of advance directive. A DPA states whom you have chosen to make health care decisions for you. It becomes active any time you are unconscious or unable to make medical decisions. A DPA is generally more useful than a living will. But a DPA may not be a good choice if you don't have another person you trust to make these decisions for you.

Living wills and DPAs are legal in most states. Even if these advance directives aren't officially recognized by the law in your state, they can still guide your loved ones and doctor if you are unable to make decisions about your medical care. Ask your doctor, lawyer or state representative about the law in your state.

What is a do not resuscitate order?

A do not resuscitate (DNR) order is another kind of advance directive. A DNR is a request not to have cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) if your heart stops or if you stop breathing. Unless given other instructions, hospital staff will try to help any patient whose heart has stopped or who has stopped breathing. You can use an advance directive form or tell your doctor that you don't want to be resuscitated. Your doctor will put the DNR order in your medical chart. Doctors and hospitals in all states accept DNR orders.

Should I have an advance directive?

By creating an advance directive, you are making your preferences about medical care known before you're faced with a serious injury or illness. This will spare your loved ones the stress of making decisions about your care while you are sick. Any person 18 years of age or older can prepare an advance directive.

People who are seriously or terminally ill are more likely to have an advance directive. For example, someone who has terminal cancer might write that she does not want to be put on a respirator if she stops breathing. This action can reduce her suffering, increase her peace of mind and increase her control over her death. However, even if you are in good health, you might want to consider writing an advance directive. An accident or serious illness can happen suddenly, and if you already have a signed advance directive, your wishes are more likely to be followed.

How can I write an advance directive?

You can write an advance directive in several ways:

Advance directives and living wills do not have to be complicated legal documents. They can be short, simple statements about what you want done or not done if you can't speak for yourself. Remember, anything you write by yourself or with a computer software package should follow your state laws. You may also want to have what you have written reviewed by your doctor or a lawyer to make sure your directives are understood exactly as you intended. When you are satisfied with your directives, the orders should be notarized if possible, and copies should be given to your family and your doctor.

- Use a form provided by your doctor.
- Write your wishes down by yourself.
- Call your health department or state department on aging to get a form.
- Call a lawyer.
- Use a computer software package for legal documents.

Can I change my advance directive?

You may change or cancel your advance directive at any time, as long as you are considered of sound mind to do so. Being of sound mind means that you are still able to think rationally and communicate your wishes in a clear manner. Again, your changes must be made, signed and notarized according to the laws in your state. Make sure that your doctor and any family members who knew about your directives are also aware that you have changed them.

If you do not have time to put your changes in writing, you can make them known while you are in the hospital. Tell your doctor and any family or friends present exactly what you want to happen. Usually, wishes that are made in person will be followed in place of the ones made earlier in writing. Be sure your instructions are clearly understood by everyone you have told.
